C. C. Budget Goal Goes to $20,000 Halfway Mark

Huge Thermometer Charts Course of Hot Campaign—Lohmann Urges No Let-up By Membership in Face of Encouraging Figures—'Finish Friday,' Slogan

The Greater Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce and Shipping budget and membership drive smashed its way to the halfway mark at noon today when approximately $20,000 in pledges were checked by General Chairman Ed Lohmann.

Twenty thousand dollars remains to be raised to achieve the $40,000 goal.

Lohmann Urges No Let Up

"The army of workers will remain in the field this afternoon and as long as necessary to raise it," said Lohmann at noon. "Prospects are good. We want every citizen to hear in mind, however, that though we have raised $20,000 there must be no letting up. A dollar in the hand is worth a hundred dollars in the bush. We must win through."

"Port Arthur is entering the most momentous year of her existence. We will go ahead or back. The foundation work for the year is laid. The Chamber can do nothing without the moral and financial support of its citizens. We have a future uncertain among full ports, but nobody is going to help us if we fail to help ourselves."

"I want every citizen to realize the necessity therefore of winning this campaign. It can be done. Port Arthur can do anything any other city can do. We have made an excellent start. Let's make it a successful finish."

"Win Friday," Slogan

Launching in haste, the budget workers swept through the business district at one o'clock, divided into three divisions, Red, White and Blue.

"Today's figures are expected to substantially augment the total. To morning morning the workers bright and early again will take the field. Every effort is being made to complete the campaign Friday."

"If everybody will be as sharp about it as the workers in the field today night will see the budget task," said Lohmann.

With Lohmann, general chairman, are the chiefs of staff, three division commanders, with 15 sub captains and two workers each.

The list of all but a few of the workers whose names were in the book of their division chief follows:

"Army" Chiefs:

Lohmann's Staff—J. E. Day, J. P. Logan, Leonard Power, P. E. Gifford, J. R. Deung, H. C. Crawford, G. N. Bliss, G. P. Dodge, A. N. Beckham, H. Henderson, H. Matthe, H. M. Smith, G. T. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Another offer for the Muscle Shoals power project was received today by Secretary of War Weeks.

He would not divulge the interests making it except to say that they are not connected with the group of southern power companies which submitted an offer yesterday.

K. C. S. Net Profits on $100,000 Capital $2,933,527, Says Duff

HEIRESS TO MILLIONS WEEDS IN CITY HALL

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Many beautiful, vivacious, and heiress to forty millions, told neither her name nor name that the hotel Countess Ludwig von Hohenhausen.

So it surprised almost everyone and some the hearts of not a few when New York's set of fashion and wealth awoke today to learn that Mary Millicent, quietly had wedded her American suitor last Tuesday in the distinctly bourgeois setting of the Municipal building.

DUFF SCORES MONOPOLY

Says K. C. S. Victory Would Be Death Knell to Port

Profits of nearly three million dollars on an invested capital of $100,000 and not a single dividend declared, is the record made up by the auditor of the Kansas City Southern railroad for the T. & F. S. subsidiary, covering about nine years, said Col. R. C. Duff charged in his speech before the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping members Wednesday night.

Quoting from the records year by year for the years 1911 through 1922, the annual totals for the period aggregated $2,933,527 surplus, Col. Duff said.

Application of this was made by the speaker to prove, he said, that there is plenty of opportunity for the proposed railroad to get a fair share of the business originating in Port Arthur and at inland points for Port Arthur delivery.

An Issue of Fact

"Traffic, business, and commerce south of Beaumont is insufficient to sustain another railroad, the K. C. S. set forth in their report to the commission," Duff declared.

"Then they report an issue of fact."

With all kindness let me say that the man working for the K. C. S. is trying to serve its interests. They are paid to do that. I might suggest here that the one not serving its interests, and time will prove it.

"Here are some figures showing the result you, not the K. C. S., have accomplished."

"The K. C. S. was organized in 1900 and the total gross earnings for (Turn to Page 10, Column 2)

200 Miles New Line To Put 24,000 Miles At Pt. Arthur's Door

How construction of 210 miles of railroad at a cost of less than $10,000,000 will tap railroads with a total mileage of 24,172 miles, serving two-thirds of the great Mississippi Valley which produces all the products necessary to the life of the whole world, and how such construction would make Port Arthur one of the greatest ports on the Gulf of Mexico, was explained Wednesday night by Col. R. C. Duff at a banquet of the Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce and Shipping, attended by 500 at the Plaza hotel.

Col. Duff proposes to build a railroad line from Port Arthur to Tinity and Waco, using his present railroad holdings as a nucleus for the line.

Pt. Arthur Compared With Old New York

Your perspective is too short for you to get a realization of how great you are, as compared the magnitude of your greatness."

You need to get outside and look in about 100 years to see the settlement at the mouth of the Hudson river was nothing like the New York of today. There is not another situation on the American continent, outside of New York at the mouth of the Hudson river, comparable to Port Arthur. I say this after years of careful investigation.

A similar instance where building of a short line would tap so vast and rich a territory. And he emphasized the importance this would mean to Port Arthur as an important and expanding center.

After explaining how the road would reach the heart of the cotton growing section of the country by tapping the Missouri, Kansas, Texas lines at Waco and diverting traffic which at present cannot be handled promptly through the ports of Houston and Galveston, Col. Duff took up one by one the other great railroad systems which would converge in rates and routings with his proposed line.

Lines To Be Tapped

"Officials of the Kansas City Southern have raised the question about the success of our road in case it gets no further than Trinity, and never gets into Waco, Col. Duff said. "The K. C. S. and G. N. railroad, with 112.5 miles in Texas, and the Missouri Pacific, with 6,124 miles of road in Texas, Missouri, Colorado, Illinois, Louisiana and Arkansas, say they would converge with our road in rates, and route through Port Arthur, sending export freight and receiving inland bound freight."

"So through Trinity Junction a total of 11,250 miles would be connected up with our road, and 35 miles west of Waco, our road would tap the Rock Island and the Colorado."

Bandits Loot Liquor Stores As Butler Starts Drive

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—At the moment when Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler was exhorting police at the Second and Christian Streets Station to speed up their efforts in the great "clean up" of Philadelphia, early today, six masked bandits were attempting the robbery of a government liquor warehouse three blocks away.

The bandits bound the watchman and two others who went to his aid but were frightened away. A call for help reached the police station a few minutes after the general had driven off.

The attempted robbery was one of 20 odd reported during the height of the police drive last night, two holdups, in one of which a man who resisted and shouted for the police was shot, were reported today. Lost to the value of $5 was obtained in various night crimes.

Astrologist Forecasts Strange Epidemic in March

BY HARRY E. HUNT
"NEA Service Writer"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The year 1924 will mark the beginning of an era of peace and understanding following a decade of war and strife, according to Madame Marcia, Washington astrologist, who reads the stars for hundreds of Washingtonians and diplomats, who are anxious to foresee fate. It was Madame Marcia who, in 1920, predicted President Harding would not live out his term and who, when he was taken ill, forecast the very day of his death.

The influence developing during the year, she says, will continue until within three years, or by late 1926, the United States will have joined the World Court and a new period of good will, in which justice and humanitarianism will prevail, will have been established.

Within these same three years, she predicts, the United States will modify its prohibition laws by permitting the manufacture and sale of beer and wine, under a high government tax. The political course of the country during the year will be greatly influenced by the death, late in May or early in June, of a leading citizen or high official. This death will be a controlling factor in the presidential election and have a very great influence on future affairs of state.

Predicts Mysterious Epidemic Early in this year, probably in March, the country will be swept by a mysterious epidemic, which doctors will not understand or be able to remedy.

Following on the heels of this will come equally widespread labor troubles, strikes and lockouts. From trouble will continue through the year and will combine with labor disturbances in the cities to disturb the domestic political situation.

"The new year," Madame Marcia says, "will be one of transition from the horoscope for 1924, and throughout the world money will be slow and hard to get. It will be the major cause of contention. As to our own finances, the adjustment of the foreign debt will be satisfactorily completed if Secretary Hughes is given a free hand in the negotiations. Hughes has Mars in the House of Money, and it is not alone he will get every dollar owed this country."

Copyright, Harris & Ewing
MADAM MARCIA

The influence of Mars, which has controlled through the last decade, to that of Venus, Venus, with her softening influence, her love of peace, her pleading for justice without conflict, will be the guiding influence leading this country into participation in the World Court. She is aided by Libra in the house of law and partnerships, which will give both people and nations clearer vision, better understanding. The scales of Justice will rule instead of the force of Mars.

"Public finance will play a big part in the adjustments to stabilize and maintain peace. Saturn sits on the cusp of the House of Money, in the horoscope for 1924, and throughout the world money will be slow and hard to get. It will be the major cause of contention. As to our own finances, the adjustment of the foreign debt will be satisfactorily completed if Secretary Hughes is given a free hand in the negotiations. Hughes has Mars in the House of Money, and it is not alone he will get every dollar owed this country."

Reason for Prohibition Modification
The modification of prohibition is forecast by the influence of the planet in the House of Money and of Cancer, which rules beer and light wine, ruling in midheaven. The movement which will result in the return of beer and wine will begin next November or December and by 1924 beverages of low alcoholic content will again be permitted.

"Mercury parallel to Jupiter will cause an unprecedented amount of travel during the year. It is a year of change, of restlessness, of transition. There will be a hysteria of gambling, of betting on races—both horses and politics."

"The outstanding indication of the

PREDICTIONS THAT CAME TRUE
Madam Marcia is celebrated as an astrologist of note. It was she who predicted both the nomination and death of President Harding. Her first divination to attract public notice was that of the acquittal of Roland R. Mollinoux, twice condemned for murder in 1891. She also foretold that Mrs. Norman Galt, who later became Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, would one day be mistress of the White House. Official Washington, her home, holds her in high repute. Madam Marcia, however, places great emphasis on her denial that she is a fortune teller.

"I am a scientist," she says.

horoscope for 1924, however, is that the United States has come to a point of equilibrium—a cross-roads—a critical period in which there will be a careful balancing of the scales to determine which course to follow. But Venus, Jupiter and Mercury present combinations that make it certain the road chosen will be the one toward peace, justice and humanitarianism.

"This will bring a new growth in culture, a revival in art and music and literature beyond anything this nation has yet produced. There will be a more wholesome social growth

CHANCE REMARK OF SAILOR CLEARS THEFT

GALVESTON, Texas, Jan. 10.—A chance remark to a fellow seaman in a Paris cafe today had led to the arrest of Raymond Gallup on charges of mail robbery at Webster, Texas, last September.

Gallup was taken into custody when his ship docked here yesterday by Postoffice Inspector W. W. Morris, acting on advice from the American consul at Paris that a shipmate of Gallup's had overheard him talk of the robbery in a cafe there.

Gallup, claiming he deliberately "framed" the crime on himself in order to obtain consular passage back to the United States.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of all sorts. Seldom fails to deliver results. 35c and 65c jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Better than a mustard plaster

Fame of Port Arthur Will Be Spread By Radio Talks

The fame of Port Arthur is to be spread via radio to every corner of the United States.

This purpose was effected today by Frank Condon, owner of the Electric Supply company, who has a large broadcasting station at his store.

The plan will be taken up and carried by the Yarn Men's Business League at their weekly meeting Tuesday, January 11.

Three times a week the broadcasting station is operated and programs and talks made over the radio that go to every corner of the United States.

The possibilities of advertising for Port Arthur with the aid of the radio are unlimited," said Condon. "Every mail brings me letters and cards and I also receive telegrams from folks over the country who have heard our station program. The thought occurred to me that Port Arthur could just as well have some advertising out of it as not. I'll through the outfit if the Y. M. B. L. will arrange for the speakers."

Y. M. B. L. directors plan a regular schedule of five-minute talks, one for each of the three nights the station is operated during the week. Each speaker will give a subject and asked to talk five minutes. Stations all over the country will pick up the information and disseminate it from that point on.

BLIZZARD TAKES LIVES IN WEST

Cold Wave Sweeps Down From Rockies

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—With two dead in blizzard at Omaha, Neb., a cold wave swept down from the Rocky mountain regions today and will envelope the midwest by tonight.

Severe snowstorms are raging in the northwest.

Temperature at Devil's Lake fell to 19 below zero.

General havoc prevails at Omaha where traffic is demoralized and communication greatly hampered.

Leroy A. Conklin, 30, of Lincoln, Neb., and James Rogers, 35, were frozen to death in the Omaha blizzard.

Heavy rains falling throughout this region today will turn into snow and sleet tonight.

corns Ostracism for Youth Adopted After Murder Trial

Multi-Millionaire, Making
Lad His Heir, Defends
Boy Who Denies He Slew
Young Girl

JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT
NEA Service Staff Writer.
CONVENT, N. J., Jan. 10.—Monday, 48-year-old bachelor and many times a millionaire has just adopted his son and made heir to his millions, a 16-year-old boy upon whose past two years ago rested the stigma of murder.

It may be the one thing I have not done for," he said, and thus does this millionaire, childhood friend of the boy, in giving refuge to a boy whom his native city of Madison, N. J., was persecuting.

The boy is Francis Kluxen, 16, born in the town of Madison, N. J., and known as "Francis Kluxen."
He is tall and well built, with dark hair and eyes, and a serious expression on his face.

It was two years ago that the little boy of Madison, N. J., was arrested on the charge of murdering a young girl. Twenty-nine months ago he was found guilty of the deed, and sentenced to life in prison.

But tangible clues in the murder case were lacking. The public rage, however, was not diminished. He was finally set free, but the stigma of the murder remained.

The Kluxen home was near the scene where the girl's body was found.
A handkerchief was found in the house, which bore stitching similar to that on Francis' handkerchief.

The wounds on the child's body had been made with a knife similar to the Boy Scout knife which Francis carried.

Presented with such evidence as his two grand juries refused to accept, the boy, then a gangster by name of Frank Jaucarek, was arrested, tried and acquitted.

Following this Francis was arrested on the charge of murdering a young girl. He was found guilty of the deed, and sentenced to life in prison.

"I know I didn't do it and they didn't prove it," he said, "but I was afraid to say so. After that all would have come well. But Francis Kluxen's father, a man in unimpaired circumstances, had used his life to defend the boy. He is today without a job.

School children gathered in little groups, and pointed their fingers at him. There was no money to send him to school outside the county.

People passed him with averted eyes. One day when Francis was standing with three companions on a lawn, they were fired at from a passing automobile.

That was when Monell Sayre, executive vice-president of the Peabody and the Episcopal Church of America, and millionaire vestryman of the Grace Episcopal Church of Madison, entered upon the scene. He visited the boy to spend a few days in his home in Convent which lies outside of Madison.

"The boy was being persecuted," Mr. Sayre said, "and I took him into my home to protect him."
The days lengthened into months,
and the boy and his cousin, Mr.
Sayre, became friends. Mrs. Pitts, learned to love the boy. Sayre took him to his home in Convent and he lived with the Archdeacon of Canterbury and his friends with British statesmen.

Secured at Church
Black home again Sayre took measures to adopt the boy. Probably three in a newspaper would have been down about it if it hadn't been that Francis, who is a Catholic, elected to attend services a couple of Sundays at the Grace Episcopal Church, the arch of his foster father.

The Grace Episcopal congregation is affronted. The Rev. Victor Morrison, rector of the church, much distressed, called his wealthy parishioners about to consider the situation which had assumed embarrassing proportions.

Neighborly hostility called Mrs. Pitts inform her that if she insisted on keeping Francis in the home, she, the neighbor, would be obliged to go to her own home in New York considerably sooner than she had planned.
Late Revived
The little city of Madison revived hate.
But Sayre went right on with his plan of adoption.
"No matter what happens," he says,
"I will have Francis. I have my individuals before me and we can live in peace."

"I've never been a society woman," Mrs. Pitts said, "and the cold looks of the neighbors don't bother me in the least."
"Some day," says Francis, "I hope show them how much it all has cost me."
By which he means that some day

Monell Sayre (below) who adopted Francis Kluxen as his son.

he hopes to be a famous mechanical engineer.

In the meantime a tutor is visiting from England to perfect him in Latin and Greek, and other devices have been set up. Jay servants move over thick carpets to minister to his comfort, motor cars purr outside the door. There will be trips to Europe and quiet talks with learned men and perhaps a degree from Oxford.

And thus does life begin anew for Francis.

Just outside the city of Madison, N. J., some enterprising church has put up a sign board. "The blood of Jesus Christ, His son," it says,
"cleanseth us from all sin."

PROPOSED LINE DREAM OF YEARS

Craig Tells of Efforts to Put It Over

Proposed railroad line from Waco to Port Arthur has long been the dream of Col. R. C. Duff, who has been 15 years making a fight for its construction. George M. Craig, president of the Merchants' National bank and a friend of Col. Duff for the last 25 years told the banquet of the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping
Wednesday night.

Briefly, Mr. Craig told of the pro-moter's struggles to make his dream come true, and the colored himself described the long hard fight he has had to connect the port city with the great water-producing interior of Texas.

Col. Duff told how he had borrowed millions to put through the project because of his great faith in Port Arthur as a future great city, and how his dreams had almost come true at last.

Introducing Col. Duff, Mr. Craig said:
"Back 25 years ago, I met my distinguished friend, who was then a railroad promoter, but not in the ordinary sense of the word." Craig said, "I put some money in a line he was backing, and I got every cent of it back, and then some."

He has come back to his old love now, the railroad from Port Arthur to Waco. It is up to the people to see that the Kansas City Southern's Chinese wall of stubborn resistance to another railroad coming into Port Arthur is broken down. The K. C. S.
did all they could to drive the Gulf Refining company away from Port Arthur, and they also did all they could to keep the Texas company out," Craig said.

CANADA TO TRY NEW

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—Convicted of typhoid, the excellent results achieved with typhoid in the treatment of typhoid cases of general paresis in the United States, Dr. Forbes Gouldrey, minister of health for Ontario, is establishing a clinic for typhoid treatment in the provincial hospital for mental cases here. Similar clinics will be established in Ontario, including the cities of Kingston, London and Hamilton.

PICK DALLAS' MARSHAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Coolidge today sent the following nomination: United States marshal—Samuel L. Gross of Texas, Northern District of Texas.

HOW DOCTORS
TREAT COLDS
AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is Calomel, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be dependent upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the nauseless calomel tablets called Calobates, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel.

Doctors also point out the fact that no active liver can go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds, and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calobates at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all.
No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calobates are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large family package; ten cents for the small, test-pocket size.—Ad.

DISABLED VETERAN'S REPRESENTATIVE HERE

Is there an ex-soldier man in Port Arthur that you know of who should have adjusted compensation, war risk insurance renewed, vocational training, or hospitalization?

If there are some here, and Legionnaires say there are quite a number,
all of their claims against the government for various causes will be taken up with them Friday by a representative from the veterans bureau, Houston, in Port Arthur today, and will leave Friday for this work. Ret-Cross officials said today.

Ex-servicemen desiring a conference with him are urged to come to the Red Cross hut, Fifth street and Dallas avenue.

SARAH FAST WORKER
NEW ORLEANS FINDS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10.—"Because of Sarah, she's a quick worker," said a telegram to the New Orleans Retail Merchants Bureau from San Antonio.

A rush was made for the telephone and the police were told to be on the lookout for Sarah D. Shepler, a comely brunette about 40 years of age.

The move to thwart Sarah's operations was started at once but she had again shown superior speed and pace and checked at three prominent local banks, besides buying $50 worth of specimens from a dealer. The check she gave the dealer was like the ones she tendered the hotels—surprise.

The woman is said to have operated extensively in San Antonio and Dallas.

TRIFLING WITH HONOR

"Trifling With Honor," the Universal-Jewel photodrama which is at the Pearce theater offers some dramatic proof that a man cannot definitely for all time hide his inner self, although he may for a time mask his real identity.

Prominent characters in the cast are portrayed by such well-known screen players as Rockcliffe Fellowes, Frederic Roberson, Evelyn Stewart, Emmett King, William Welsh, Frederick Stanton and Robert Daly.

The story was adapted to the screen
by Frank Perceford and Raymond L.
Schrock from the Collier's Weekly story by William Slavens McNutt. It is a story full of human interest, and around the twisted nature of a baseball player-crook whose life story was cleared of its crookedness by the hero worship of a messenger boy. The picture was directed by Harry Vol-lard.

STUPENDOUS PRODUCTION
Fulfilling the most enthusiastic predictions of early reviewers, "Richard the Lion-Hearted," Associated Authors' screen version of "The Lionheart," an Allied Producers and Distributors Corporation release, is moving one of the screen sensations of the season at the Peoples theater.

Touching the highlights of the adventurous King Richard's career and based on his Third Crusade into the Holy Land, "Richard the Lion-Hearted" has been produced with a lavishness that lends it powerful historical and entertainment appeal.

In stupendous settings, constructed with a keen appreciation of conformity to historical records, the scenes of conflict between King Richard's gallant knights and the swarming Saracens, infidels who had gained possession of the Holy Sepulchre, have been screened with inspiring realism.

THE SIGHTING OF THE PICTURE

combined with the thrilling romance of the story, carries a tremendous "pull," that cannot fail further to enhance Scott's famous novel, on which it is based.

"HIT THE TRAIL HOLLIDAY"
The complete production of one show a night, which is a new innovation here, in a popular comedy house, was a very satisfactory one as evidenced by the appreciation shown by the audience. The story tells of the adventures and romance of a young bar-tender from New York, Bill Holliday, (Albert Taylor) who has been engaged to work in the saloon at the new hotel in the village of Johnsburg. He arrives in the town and becomes involved in an argument with the village agent (Paul Taylor), who happens to be the son of the man Bill is going to work for, Rex Granger (Miller Evans).

There is probably nothing more distressing to people who are bothered with them, and surely nothing as distressing to others who see them as simple, blotches, lumps, rash, scrofula, eczema, "breaking out" and similar skin disorders.

And now that Black and White Ointment is proving to be so dependable in quickly getting rid of these diseases of the skin, it seems foolish for people to neglect using it, and making their troubles attract attention instead of being whittled all the time.

Any dealer has Black and White Ointment in the convenient, low-priced, liberal packages. The 7c size contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size.—Adv.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.
Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.
You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.
Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent. It makes you one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY HE THAT DWELLETH IN THE SECRET PLACE OF THE MOST HIGH SHALL ABIDE UNDER THE SHADOW OF THE ALMIGHTY.—PS. 91:1.

GUS SHAW IS CALLED HOME

Men who knew him called him Farmer Gus Shaw and thousands of Texans knew him. He was Christianized N. A. Shaw by his parents more than sixty years ago. He died the other day at his home in the City of Texarkana. He was a product of the public schools and three universities but ever a plain farmer man. He owned many plantations or farms in the Red River section of Texas. He was one of the pioneer growers of long-staple cotton and demonstrated that Texas was its home, that it was just as easy to raise long-staple cotton as it was scrub cotton and to profit largely by the difference in the prices of the two staples.

He made a fortune as a farmer, he succeeded as a banker, he was widely known as a political leader of the democratic party, he was identified with every farm movement in Texas for a third of a century and he never hesitated to champion all legislation which he deemed beneficial to the agriculturalists and live-stock growers of America. He was a law-maker in his youth. He could have been governor when Thomas M. Campbell retired but he refused to call himself a machine democrat or to bow to the edicts of the machine.

He had more than a state reputation. He was known to all those active in national farm organizations and despite his wealth and his superior education, he believed that the farmers and the wage earners should band together politically and control the political activities of state and nation. He broke with the Wilson administration when the deflation policy was announced by David F. Houston, then secretary of the treasury, and he went to his grave with the sincere belief in his heart that deflation cost the farmers and live-stock growers of America many billions of dollars.

Although a southerner to the core, he wore no man's collar. He was as courageous as Grover Cleveland and he never hesitated to give vent to his honest convictions. In the campaign of 1920 he danced a set with the republicans and he looked upon Warren G. Harding as one of the safest of American presidents. He was a protection democrat and he believed and insisted that if the manufactured products of the east and the north were to receive the benefits of high tariffs that the southern producers of raw materials, including all products of the farm, were entitled to the same protection by their government against the cheap meat products of South America and Australia, the cheap oils, vegetable and otherwise from all the countries of the Orient—in fact, against all the products or produce of servile labor in lands where the standards of living are the lowest and the cost of production the least.

He was sixty when he died. His name was a household word at the farm firesides in the southwest and in the councils of the farmers of Texas there is a vacant chair at the table and a musical voice missing in the deliberations of men who are striving for legislation that will assist in producing a fair share of prosperity which is the harbinger of happiness in the homes of those who produce from mother earth the products which feed the stomachs and cover the backs of the family of men.

WHEN WISDOM HURTS

"The best place for Harry K. Thaw is where he is," His mother said it and Mrs. Thaw knows. She spent millions to keep her son in the road called straight. He committed all the crimes known to the law and escaped the gallows or the electric chair because alienists convinced jurors that he was of unsound mind. Criminals of unsound mind should be kept where they will do the least harm, behind walls of stone in steel cages. A wise mother knows her own son. Mrs. Mary Copely Thaw is a wise mother.

Lower wool prices are predicted for 1924, unless they pull the wool over the consumer's eyes.

TIP O' THE TONGUE

In the Quaker Church they used to marry differently. They just stood up in congregation, without a minister, and pledged to each other their marriage vows. When I was married, more than a half century ago, that is the way my wife and I pledged our troth and no happier couple can be found anywhere. I sometimes regret that this form of marriage has become so nearly obsolete. The United States has the innumerable distinction of producing the largest crop of divorcees of any civilized nation. But in all my 85 years I have never heard of a divorce following what is called a Quaker marriage.

—REV. J. WARREN HAWKES, for 50 years a preacher at the Quaker Church, Manchester, Me.

THE marked excess of females shown in the United States census for the 20-24 age period is due in large part to understatement of ages. It is obvious either that the number of native white females enumerated in 1910 as in the age period of 10-14 was too small, or that the native white women of native parentage enumerated in 1920 as in the 20-24 age period included a considerable number who were actually 25 years or more.

—LUCILE SAM, in newly published complete 1920 census report.

UNLESS there is some kind of international economic union very soon that will have control over the basic necessities of life in the world, civilization will just simply exhaust itself in wars. Speculation in the necessities of life must be stopped. Serious that humanity recognize as being vital to the whole community must be done in the interest of the whole community. You have got to remove the cultivation and distribution of the world's great raw materials from the realm of capitalism. In other words, you have got to have a world rationing of raw materials or have a succession of wars.

—A. EMILY DAVIES, banker member of the British Labor Party, in Boston.

SIMPLE HISTORY PROVES POPULAR

Hendrik Willem Van Loon took a very dry subject, history, and wrote about it so interestingly that in two years the American people have paid one and a half million dollars to read his books.

Van Loon thinks his books are popular because they are to the point instead of cluttered up with a mass of words and dates. He learned to write briefly when he was a newspaper correspondent cabling news from Russia at a dollar a word. It cost so much that brevity was compulsory.

Van Loon, now 41, was born in Holland. He is highly educated, a college professor. But, due to his foreign birth and training, he does not handle English as easily as the average American. Says he: "I have to write very simply in order to make my meaning intelligible to myself."

Twenty years ago a man would have been called crazy if he had claimed that a book of routine history could be written so it would outsell the top-notchers of fiction. History, until a few years back, was not a popular subject. Obviously, the reason for this was that history had never been written simply and attractively.

People are no hungrier for knowledge than in the past.

They are reading history because it is being dished up so it can be grasped quickly and without puckering the forehead and reading sentences twice.

The same is being done with the great sciences, by such men as Prof. J. Arthur Thompson, whose "Outline of Science" is as fascinating as Jules Verne. Fabre, the French man, started the epidemic of popularization of knowledge, by his books about insect life.

We'd like to see a hundred men like Van Loon, Thompson and Fabre turned loose on the job of rewriting most of the textbooks used in schools.

YOUR HEALTH By Dr. C. C. Robinson

Physicians and practical observers have come to the conclusion that the most effective way to keep the body healthy is by means of the hands.

The physician or nurse is careful to thoroughly sterilize every article of instrument with which the hands, in treating a patient, come in contact. Think, then, how great the real danger is among the general public by hand contact and carelessness. We do not know among those we meet just who is infected and who is not. We do not think anything about it, as a rule. Five per cent of persons are careful, the other 95 per cent are careless, and are taking health and happiness by poisonous handshaking.

It is true that a more direct means of contact, but it is not so common as the hand-shake, and is at a confined to the exchange of nasal or oral discharges. Outside sources, such as contaminated clothing, handling of animals, handles of doors, tools, or articles in common use, make the danger from hand infection great.

The general public is slow to break away from custom, and hand that a gradual training against the common greeting by handshaking is possible. It is one of the things given special emphasis in the great program for public health. It will surely reduce the danger of disease-carrying and infection in the long run.

Persons with colds, carry danger in their hand-sickles from handkerchief contamination. In the case of influenza, handshaking must be abolished. Careless and much more persons, so more dangerous in their hand-sickles than from any other source of infection.

The cheerful smile, combined with the military salute, is a suitable substitute for the infectious hand-shake.

THIS LITTLE OLD WORLD

LONDON, Jan. 7.—American men of the greatest adventures in the world, but I think it is a concern to bear the London subway trust. In the spring, summer, autumn, and the various flowers and fruits come into season in the country. London is placed in the center of the world, and is surrounded by the sea on all sides. Your Money AT WORK

But important lessons in finance, markets, stocks, bonds and investments

CAN YOU SOLVE THIS PROBLEM?

THE PEOPLE OWNERSHIP OF LARGE CORPORATIONS MONIED INTERESTS WHICH WAY IS IT MOVING?

Ownership of large corporations is apparently gravitating into the hands of the average man.

Years ago large corporations were owned by scattered interests. A few men owned all the stock. Is this still true?

Last year the United States Steel Corporation had about 50,000 common stockholders. Among its 3,000,000 shares of common stock, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company had about 2,000,000 stockholders. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company reported about 1,000,000 stockholders in 1922.

Here we have an example of a leader in each of the three main corporation fields—industrial, public utility, and railroad, and each company has thousands of stockholders scattered throughout Canada and the United States.

Payment for services other than in money is subject to the income tax. The fair market value of the thing taken in payment is the amount to be included in income. For example, the value of a house or goods received by a clerk in part payment for his services must be reported as income.

The value of board and lodging constitutes taxable income to the recipient. The amount to be included in the amount he would pay in cash for similar accommodations.

Promissory notes received in payment for services and not merely as security for such payment constitute income to the amount of their fair market value. Compensation paid in kind of a corporation in "shares of stock" is to be treated as if the corporation sold the stock for its market value and paid him in cash.

Where living quarters, food, clothing, etc., are furnished solely for the convenience of the employee—as, for example, in a logging or fishing camp—the value of such does not constitute taxable income to the employee. The rule applies to board and lodging furnished to him.

The value of board and lodging furnished to hospital employees is to be returned as income, unless the employee is subject to duty at any time during the 24 hours of a day, and therefore is required to accept quarters and meals at the hospital in addition to his regular compensation.

DOPE Prediction is made by the chemist. Hence du Pont, that "material" will be found which, taken into the human system, will accomplish the reduction of "right" hours' sleep.

That would be the super-calculator, for the efficiency experts would manage to keep us busy the hours now spent in sleep. Why, sleep is what keeps people from going raving mad in this jazz age. Slumber restores a semblance of sanity. Its psychic and mental recuperation is far more important than physical rest.

Oleomargarine is growing in favor in Great Britain, the estimated sales being about 800 tons a week more than before the war.

BLACK OXEN by GERTRUDE ATHERTON

Published by arrangement with Associated First National Pictures, Inc. (Copyright, 1923, by Gertrude Atherton.)

LIV. As they left the boathouse an hour later and walked up the steep path to the camp, once more that sense of coming disaster drove into her mind and banished the memory of the past hour, when she had forgotten it. What did it mean? She recalled that she had had dark premonitions before in her life, and they had always come in the form of this sudden mental invasion, as if some malignant homeless spirit exulted in being the first to hint at the misfortune to come.

But the camp was silent. Every one, apparently, had gone to bed, and slept the sleep of valiant souls and weary bodies. One lamp burned in the living-room, and Claverling turned it out and they parted lingeringly, and she went up to her room.

She had barely taken off her coat and scarf when she heard a tap on her door. She started for a moment in panic, then crossed the room swiftly and opened it. Mr. Dinwiddie, wrapped against the cold in a padded dressing-gown and with noiseless slippers on his feet, entered and closed the door behind him.

"What has happened?" she demanded sharply. "Something. I know it."

"Don't look so frightened, my dear. I have no bad news for you. Only it's rather annoying, and I know I shouldn't get a word along with you in the morning."

"What is it? What is it?" "I had this telegram an hour ago from Trent." He took a sheet of paper from the pocket of his dressing-gown, covered with handwriting. "Of course those bumpkins down in Huntersville took their time about telephoning it up. Luckily the telephone is over in Larsing's room."

Mary had snatched the paper from his hand and was reading it aloud.

"Hohenhauer took morning train for Huntersville stop will spend night there and go to camp in morning stop Trent's stop don't let anything prevent stop very important stop he will not ask you to put him up stop thought best to warn you as you might be planning expedition. Trent."

"Hohenhauer!" exclaimed Mary, and now, oddly enough, she felt only astonishment and annoyance. "Why should he come all this way to see me? He could have written if he had anything to say." And Important papers for you to sign, and as some one is obliged to go to Huntersville to check up the provisions that will arrive on the train tomorrow morning, I've told Trent's clerk to wait there, as I prefer to see to the other matter myself. I—hate deceiving Lee—

"So do I, but it cannot be helped. Did he bring me up here to get me away from Hohenhauer?"

Mr. Dinwiddie's complexion suddenly looked darker in the light of the solitary candle. "Well—you see."

"I suspected it for a moment and then forgot it. No doubt it is the truth. So much the more reason why he should know nothing about that man's following me. Why should he be made uneasy—perhaps unhappy? But what excuse to go off without him?"

"They have a Ford down there. I'll tell them to send that. With the provisions there'll be no room for four people."

"That will answer. And I'll give Hohenhauer a piece of my mind."

"But, Mary, you don't suppose that one of the most important men in Europe, with limited time, at his disposal, would take that journey unless he had something very important indeed to say to you? Not even for your beaux yeux, I should think, or he'd have asked Trent to get him an invitation to spend several days at the camp. I must say I'm devoured with curiosity."

Mary shrugged her shoulders. "I'm too sleepy for curiosity. What time must we start?"

"About nine, if the car gets here on time. It takes two hours to come up the mountain, and they'll hardly be induced to start before seven. It'll tell Larsing to telephone at six."

"It's now eleven. We have eight hours for sleep. Good night, and believe that I am immensely grateful. You've arranged it all wonderfully."

She stamped her foot as Mr. Dinwiddie silently closed the door. "Moritz! What does he want! Why has he followed me here! But he has no power whatever over my life, so why should I care what he wants? But that this—this—should be interrupted!"

She addressed without calm and step ill.

The flight next morning proved simpler of accomplishment than she had anticipated. The men were going to a neighboring lake to fish, Larsing having excited them with the prospect of abundant trout; and why fish in your own lake when you may take a tramp of several miles through the woods to another? They begged Claverling to go with them, and as man cannot exist for long in the rarefied atmosphere of the empyrean without growing restive, he was feeling rather let down, and cherished a sneaking desire for a long day alone with men.

But he told Mary that he did not want to go out of their woods and down to that hideous village for any such purpose as to watch her sign papers, and he stood on the landing waving his hat as she and Mr. Dinwiddie crossed the lake in the motor boat to the waiting Ford. For once his intuitions failed him, and he tramped off with the other men, his heart as light as the mountain air, and his head empty of women.

Mary looked back once at the golden-brown lake, set like a jewel in its casket of fragrant trees, and wondered if she would see it again with the same eyes. She was both resentful and uneasy, although she still was unable to guess what harm could come of this interview. If Hohenhauer wanted her to go to Washington she could refuse, and he had long since lost his old magnetic power over her.

But as the Ford bumped down the steep road between the woods she felt less like Mary Ogden every moment. . . . those misty illusions to withdraw from her practical brain . . . returning to the heights where they belonged . . . she wondered how she could have dared to be so unthinkingly happy . . . the sport of the cynical gods? . . . sentimental folly that she had called exaltation! After all! After all!

Could she recapture that mood when she returned? Certainly, whatever this man wanted of her it would be hard facts, not illusions, he would invite her to deal with. Even when he had been that most passionate of lovers, his brain had always seemed to stand aloof, luminous and factual. He had not an illusion. He saw life as it was, and although his manners were suave and polished, and his voice the most beautiful she had ever heard, he could be brutally direct when it suited his purpose. For a moment she hated him as ardently as she had for a time after he left her.

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

DEAR SON—

After my last letter to you, which you did not think worthy of an answer, I fully determined never to write you again.

But a mother's heart—even when it is broken and bleeding—cannot quite cast out her only child.

In my last letter I told you of a picture which dear Priscilla Bradford had sent and which made me think that the suspicious might find gossiping circumstances coincident to the adoption of that nameless but you have seen fit to call after you most illustrious ancestor.

Of course, that letter was only one of countless, but now, my dear son, I have positive proof that your wife (I hate to call her by that holy name) is holding clandestine meetings with another man and I am almost sure that her own family are aiding and abetting her in this terrible thing.

I am sure Providence is working through dear Priscilla Bradford for your salvation. How otherwise could she be in New York just at this time and see your wife in intimate conversation with a man, evidently an Englishman, in the public dining room of a hotel?

It seems to me that at least she should, for the sake of your name, have kept her affairs more private. But, no, she has flouted them to the world.

Of course, my dear boy, not having heard from you lately, I am not sure but that you and Leslie have separated. As much as I deplore divorce I will confess to you that I hope this at least, especially as dear Priscilla Bradford seems to think Leslie has taken that baby you adopted with her.

If my surmise is correct and if you have found you have made a great mistake by marrying Leslie, and have separated, I will make the great sacrifice of leaving my home here where all furnishings speak of your ancestors and come and live with you in your home.

Of course not knowing anyone there, I will hope to persuade dear Priscilla Bradford to come with me. Then, my dear boy, I am sure you would find a home such as not even you have dreamed.

Priscilla is returning from New York tomorrow. A telegram to me would bring us to you within the next few days.

Your loving and forgiving MOTHER

HERE'S OLD SWINDLE WITH NEW ANGLE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The old "Spanish prisoner" swindle has turned up again with a new angle.

A resident of Charlottesville, Va., recently received a letter from a person purporting to be in prison in Spain, offering to deliver to him, not including offering to present him with $120,000.

THE TEN BEST JOBS OF THE YEAR are announced in a magazine, but strange enough the list does not include offering to present him with $120,000.

The New Spring Dresses

We were just walking through the receiving room yesterday and happened to spy one of Spring's first shipments of dresses. In fact, they had not been completely marked up. However, their loveliness and charm just made us stop, and admire them. Beautiful georgettes, taffetas, crepes and others were among the lot, and the trimmings were just darling—some beaded, some flowered, others shyly tucked here and there. As you know their styling as a whole is correct or else they could not be allowed a place on The Hodges racks—and oh, yes, the prices—

They range from 17.50 to 44.50

Now for a New Flannel Frock

These new flannel frocks are just delightful, both in their softness and lines. Their youthfulness and styling is sure to win your admiration. Some are trimmed with contrasting collar and cuffs, others with a touch of braid, and taken as a whole the assortment is indeed ahead of the spring season.

They are priced 17.50 to 27.50

THE MILLINERY OUTLOOK

The millinery outlook is indeed an interesting one. Style creations are more varied for this spring, we believe, than ever before. The color scheme will be almost left up to you as all colors are good—especially the flashing ones. Trimmings are as numerous as the colors, and the prices are alluring for this season of the year.

LADY KLAN AIDS V. OF A. MISSION

Holiday Cheer Is Brought to Needy Families

With a cash donation of $25 to a needy family here, and 12 baskets of groceries and other food turned over to the Volunteers of America for distribution among the poor families of New Year's, the Women of the Ku Klux Klan, of Port Arthur, made known their presence in the city for the first time.

Report of the contributions from the Women of the Ku Klux Klan was made today by Captain N. Miller, in charge of the work of the Volunteers of America here and the Helping Hand Mission of the Volunteers at 335 East Worth avenue.

During the month of December, Captain Miller reports the following work was carried on by the Volunteers of America:

Bed supplies, 27; meat given, 16; garments distributed, 78; loaves of bread, cakes and buns delivered to poor families, 35; families regularly supplied with food, four; persons given medical supplies, three; pairs of shoes given away, four; Christmas activities included boxes of provisions for 25 families, 100 toys for children, and 18 bags of candy, nuts and fruit distributed; one maternity case supplied with doctor, infant, clothing and all other necessities; clothing, receiving religious instruction in the mission during the four Sundays in December, 156; attendance at mid-week social class, 162.

The mission is always in need of good, used clothing, and may one having wearing apparel that can be turned over to the Volunteers for distribution among needy families can have the articles called for, if they will phone the mission, Captain Miller said.

'BLOOD MACHINES' IN OKLAHOMA PROBED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 10.—Trial of H. L. Gordon, Claremore, was to open here today before the Oklahoma board of medical examiners in connection with charges of violation of the Harrison narcotic act. Gordon is charged with selling and distributing of the Harrison narcotic act. Gordon is charged with selling and distributing of the Harrison narcotic act.

Numerous alleged "diploma mill" physicians and operators of "entail" machines will be looked into, according to Dr. J. M. Hyman, Shawnee, secretary of the board. Scores of the "machines" purported to show the various bits of the human body by "blood analysis" are in operation in Oklahoma.

Lions Just Like Dogs, Says Noted Wild Animal Trainer

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 10.—Lions are just like dogs in their friendship for men. Leopards are the most treacherous of wild animals.

So says Wyland H. Stokes, wild animal trainer, who was in Dallas recently.

Stokes is widely known throughout the United States as a trainer of the lion and leopard, and had charge of animal actors in the motion picture, "The Son of Tarzan."

"Leopards are slower to respond to training and are more treacherous, like tigers, than other animals," said Stokes.

Contrary to general belief, the worse lions are not the ones that make the most noise or show the biggest set of teeth in the circus acts.

"They are trained to fight," explained Stokes, "but the fighting means little more than posturing."

As for taming lions—or training them—Stokes prefers one from the jungles to one that has been born in captivity.

"The ones that have never seen a man before their capture are easier to handle than any others because as the cub gets used to the man, he learns that some people are afraid of him."

Light here Stokes gives a good tip to follow if you ever bump into a lion on the street: Don't act as if you were terrified. Even if your leg won't stand quiet, look the lion in the face and stare him out of existence, Stokes advised.

"Some people couldn't get inside a cage before the cubs would attack them. The animals are quick to see who is afraid of them and who is not."

Stokes had no comment to make about the lack of surging crowds to enter lions cages.

Has prevented this.

"The roads leading in and out of this section are some of the best I have ever seen. They are well maintained and built the roads almost twice as large as the Port Arthur Boulevard road."

8500 REMAIN TO PAY POLL TAX

Only 1500 City Voters Have Now Qualified

But a day over four weeks remains for 8,500 Port Arthur voters to secure their poll tax receipts in order to be eligible to vote in the elections slated for this year.

City Tax Collector G. K. Loux today announced that only 1,500 voters to date had paid their poll taxes and that preparations had been made to accommodate 10,000 voters for this year.

Last year 6,000 persons paid their poll tax through the city, but it is expected that this number will be increased considerably this year.

With the deputy tax collectors of both the county and city at the tax offices and the Texas Company building, it is believed the work of collecting for poll taxes will be facilitated.

HARRIS OFFICERS SPLIT OVER BAIL

Attorney Attacks Judge For Granting Bond

HOUSTON, Jan. 10.—A split had developed today in Harris county's judicial system over the case of Robert J. Robinson, former Texas University student, charged with the murder of Mrs. Mollie R. Dudley.

Following the granting of $10,000 bail to Robinson here yesterday by District Judge J. D. Harvey, District Attorney Dixie J. Smith launched a bitter attack on the judge.

"The granting of bail to Robinson was an outrage and a travesty on justice," Smith declared. "If there ever was a cold-blooded murder in Harris county, the killing of Mollie Dudley was one."

"The actions of the district judge shows a lack of co-operation that is tying our hands in the administration of justice."

George Actor to Be Publicly Weighed in At 5 O'clock Today

Champion Light-Heavyweight Hangs Crown On Hooks While Port City Pride Mixes Speed, Science and Brawn for Belt

By BILL ARCHER.

FOR the first time in the history of Port Arthur, a wrestler will be publicly weighed in here this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Eagle's Barber shop, when George Vassel Actor, "the Port City Pride," steps on the scales to prove his right to meet Clarence Ecklund of Buffalo, Wyo., in a finish no-time-limit match tonight at 8 bells for the light-heavyweight championship of the world.

Fandom is agog with excitement over the match, and despite the unpleasant weather which dawned here early today, interest in the coming clash is growing. The scrap, the second billed here between Actor and Ecklund and the first time these two grapplers have ever met at 175 pounds, will be staged in Elks theater. The doors at the box office swung open at 7 o'clock.

Actor, through days of strenuous training in preparation for the battle, was reported this morning unaccountably as being within the 175-pound limit. Ecklund, who arrived in Beaumont yesterday and who will probably witness the act of weighing in the challenger this afternoon, was expected here around the noon hour, to be greeted by a host of friends and admirers confident of his ability to withstand the assault of the Greek artist and retain his crown.

Actor Meets Stiff Scrapper

Fresh from a grueling scrap with Paul Jones, the Nebraska heavyweight who has created a furore in Houston's arena, to whom he lost a finish early Tuesday evening in a match at catch-weights, Ecklund was declared early today by Will Fort, promoter under whose direction the bill is being conducted, as being ready for the titled battle.

A long record of sensational victories lie in the wake of both contestants.

Greek Entered Game Early

George Actor, who broke in upon the peace and tranquility of Port Arthur several years ago under the name of "George Vassel," has been a professional wrestler 16 years. Every tactic of the game is known to him. He started his wrestling career back in his native land of Greece, where his father bore him as a professional "amphibian."

Departing from home on "French leave," Actor came to America years ago and broke into the ring, unheralded but soon to set the country on fire with his ability. He became known as "George Vassel," the Masked Marvel of the Pacific Coast," and was matched with the leading grapplers of the country.

Prodigy Has Beaten Aces

Since his return to Port Arthur during the latter part of 1923, Actor has conquered such contenders in the 175 and 200-pound divisions as Harry Mannos, Greek 175-pound champion; Earl O'Neil, Asvorian artist, and Stanley Rogers, Asvorian rival of the local prodigy.

Ecklund is known as the "wealthy Wyoming farmer," who wrestles purely for his love of the game, and who has conquered the nation's leading light-heavyweight contenders. He entered the game 13 years ago to make his debut, and tells some interesting narratives of his earlier career in the realm of grappling.

Won Title From Brown

Two years ago, Ecklund picked the title he now wears from the crown of the late Pat Brown, heralded tar and wife as the best Texas ever produced. Lately, Ecklund has met and beaten such cards as Charlie Hentrop in Little Rock, Billy Edwards, and lesser lights whom he conquered down in Texas. To Paul Jones, and George Actor only has he conceded anything in the division. Jones, weighing 190 pounds, against the 175 gathered together by the champion in a finish scrap in Houston this week-end and Actor drew with the title-holder when the local grappler discovered what a grueling headlock he did to the head that wore the crown.

Battle of Wits and Brawn

Tonight in Elks theater it will be a battle of wits versus brawn. Every technique of the game will probably come into excellent usage as the two champions get together. Actor will no doubt make early use of his famous headlock, while the Jay antelope, body scissors, toe holds and numerous other famous grips used on the exhausted floor of the arena will be displayed here as never before.

In the prelims, Kid Edd of Port Arthur is booked for a one-tall mill with the Houston prodigy, Young Ibsen. And there will be other prelims just as exciting.

The bill is off. The title is at stake. Will Fort says the tickets have gone better than ever before for such a card.

Carolina Jack, Refused By Minors, Ousts

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(By United News.)—Carolina Jack Scott, old midget of the major leagues, has been waived out at last and this probably ends his career in the big time.

Carolina Jack was on the payroll of the Giants and they offered him to the Louisville club of the American association last week in negotiations for Weiland Dean, the new star pitcher. Louisville refused, however, to accept Scott as an item in the parcel of old bones which the club was to receive in part payment for Dean.

When a minor league club placed on him a low estimate on the value of Carolina Jack, John McGraw reckoned that he probably was worth much further use to the champions. He asked for waiver of the 15 other major league clubs and found them in a similar mind. So Scott again goes adrift.

This is no new experience to Scott, but that does distress, for it gives a ball player shooting pains to be the first time or the twenty-first. It's the same faithful old "fitter" after 20 years on a copy desk who has grown hump-backed from bending over ledgers.

RACE IN CAGE LEAGUE WARM

Independents and College Squads Win in 2nd Rounds

Team	W	L	Pct.
Independents	2	0	1.000
College	1	1	.500
College	1	1	.500
College	0	2	.000
College	0	2	.000
College	0	2	.000
College	0	2	.000

PAC and the fast Independents continued knotted in the first division of the City Basketball League here last night when both contingents collected more scalp to hang on their coats. The Collegians conquered the Baptists, 32 to 15, while the Independents of the Northern Methodist church defeated the Southern Methodist 20 to 11.

Both games were exciting and interesting. Pop was added to the clashes by sideline rosters, who came to the game garbed in yelling regalia.

The scores: College (31) vs. (15) Baptists. Independents (20) vs. (11) Southern Methodists. Substitutions—College: White, Hancock, Savoy for Litney; (Baptists) Morgan for Miers, Kremler for Kiecher.

Score by Periods—Independents 10-10-0-0. College 10-10-0-0. Substitutions—Independents: Red for Miering, (Methodists) Herpin for McAlister. Official both games Curt Smith.

THE NUT CRACKER

Masters is the Luminary of the Independents.

Actor gets his whack at the title tonight. May be his last whack too.

Couple of games forfeited already in City League for cashing honors.

Good Gulf Girls lost one to Beaumont High in the Community League game at the North End last evening.

Coach Lee O. Smith whipping his crew in good shape for the clash here tomorrow night at Franklin Gym when the fast squad from Galveston's Ball High invades the realm of Port Arthur.

Ed Downing reported doing the dirty dozen in preparation for golf clashes on the Country Club course soon.

"Flop" Connolly, erstwhile pitcher of the Islanders in 1923, opines that nobody can win a game when they fail to show up.

Richie, Kelley, the Independents seem to be in the lead by one majority. How long they stay that way, however, is pending.

Texas Stars, looking no better at any time in years, are in condition for the invasion of Houston's Triangles here today evening. This, so says Ed Perkins, is a real grudge bill and ought to draw a big crowd.

No Sarah-Jay isn't a grudge war at Vick's. Grudge wars are the momentary temporary of the momentary questions who will down the first.

College beat the Amours in Beaumont last night 21 to 9. Davis of the team made 17 of the total point good stuff, Davis.

Spinks' Trainers, defeated the local Yellow Jackets 32 to 20 in a practice clash at Franklin school last night. Both squads showed considerable form, but the Texans were too much for the overhauled passing attack of the high school seniors.

Rain? Sure. But that don't dampen Clarence Ecklund's ardor. He'll be covering the ground in dry spots tonight!

Will Fort wearing a smile, isn't a knowing smile, however, because Will is dubious about the outcome of it all.

Tex Will Sign Heroes of Shelby if Frenchman Can Be Flattened By Gibbons

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Terms for a Gibbons-Carpenter fight and a return bout between Dempsey and Gibbons are to be discussed here this afternoon by Tex Rickard and Eddie Kane, manager of the St. Paul heavyweight. Rickard, it is understood, is willing to promote another bout between the two principals, in the Shelby deal.

Kane, sent today if the terms are right, will sign up at once. Carpenter, but he wants some money. The Frenchman really was come over here again.

Carp Evades 26000.—From London newspaper in the mail yesterday, it is reported that Carpenter is giving the promoters the "run around" as he was approached with a fight. Shelby, the Englishman, and Jack Bloodfield, a heavyweights in London, was then down, saying that he then signed by Rickard and Kane that here on July 4, 1924, he will go to the United States to fight his career.

Must be a career.—If he does, but Rickard certainly will be the "grand" would have been prepared to trainings with McTigue. Kane, sent today if the terms are right, will sign up at once. Carpenter, but he wants some money. The Frenchman really was come over here again.

Second U. S. Shipment For 1924 Olympics

By United News.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Eight of America's best hockey players accompanied by a manager and a trainer, sailed aboard the President Garfield Wednesday for the Olympic hockey games at Chamonix, France, on February 5. They were the second contingent of America's star athlete army to get away for the other side, the starting team having sailed last week. The hockey team may accept a few invitations to play against European teams at the winter resorts in Switzerland, after the Olympic matches, but the entire round trip is not expected to keep them away from home beyond the end of February.

The team, selected in final trials last week, consists of Justin Kimmie; Irving Small; William Rice; Alphonse La Croix; Herbert Drury; Clarence Abel; John Langley and Frank Simmer. The manager is W. S. Hudlock. Thomas Murray is the trainer.

Traded Boat for Dog; Shot Animal for Spite

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 10.—John W. Ross returned to the tax department of the city hall a notice that he would be sued for 1922 taxes, on a boat.

"The notice that I received I am enclosing," Mr. Ross said in his letter, "and will ask you to please not waste my more of your time sending notices of this kind. I have been down to the city hall and explained all about the kind of boat I used to own—some two years or more ago. But I finally sold it for a yellow dog, and shot the dog to get even. No more boats for me."

OLD TOWN HAS ONE CITIZEN: OTHER DIED

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 10.—Fate has always been hard on the town of Usalady, Gomaan Island.

Time was when Usalady, in the height of its glory, had fair to rival Seattle as a trade center.

But it didn't. As time went on, one after another of the old settlers moved out, leaving decaying buildings and shattered hopes.

Then last month a fire burned half of the village's population to death—Henry Vinning, age 75.

Vinning, one of the oldest pioneers of Skagit Valley, weather-beaten and worn, was a fitting inhabitant of the ramshackle town. With the decline of the town, his hopes and ambitions faded, and he was content to stay, until he shared all Usalady with but one other hanger-on, Ed Clay.

Ed and Henry often fringed across the wood-grawn Main street to talk over old times. Now Ed occupies the village alone.

GIFTS OF PERFUME TO FRENCH BOXERS

PARIS, Jan. 10.—Shades of John L. Sullivan! Whither is the boxing card drifting?

During a fight card at the Cirque de Paris, Georges Carpentier and Charles Ledoux, were introduced to the fans before the main event. They were both attired in faultless evening dress. The official announcer, in a flawless dress suit and wearing the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor, made a neat speech and presented the two pugilistic prizes with gifts from admirers.

Carpentier received the loveliest silk-lined box, tied up with pink ribbons, and containing a dozen dainty bottles of Mary Garden perfume. The iron-fisted M. Ledoux was given a dozen bottles of the sweetest attar of roses.

The modern battlers were as thankful for the gifts as Tom Sharkey would have been to get a pit bulldog, or Battling Nelson a blazing diamond horseshoe tiepin.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"I still haven't found my lost people!" said the Sandman.

Nancy and Nick and Daddy Gander helped Mister Sandman to sweep up his spilled sand. Daddy Gander got his muscle, shotgun and Nanny found where the Old Shoe Woman kept her broom and they soon had every grain of it up.

"They didn't guess for one minute that the greatest damage of all had been done quite outside the Old Shoe House. They didn't know that when the sand tickled their noses and every one of them had sneezed his head off nearly, that a great many grains had floated out of the patch door-way and over the house tops to the house that Jack built, and that the party that Jack and Jill were giving had come to a sudden end.

Mister Piper, Tom's father, who was blowing out his cheeks like apples and playing a merry jig on his pipe, suddenly let his head sink on his breast and began to snore.

The three fiddlers brought by King Cole, suddenly stopped their bows, their fiddles fell from their chins, and their heads dropped over like ten-pins.

King Cole himself dancing with the Queen of Hearts, was making a gorgeous bow when the sleepy sand struck him in the eye, and he sank in a heap at her feet—sound asleep.

The Queen herself, ready for a counter, gave one yawn and fell back into a rocking chair—lead to the world.

And every one of the Daddy Gander Land people from the Crooked Man to the Sprats, fell asleep at Jack and Jill's party. The Old Shoe Woman and her children among them. Jack and Jill and Mister John, too, fell asleep still looking for the missing piece that the Twins had gone to hunt. Mister John hid in the pantry, Jill in the kitchen and Jack in the cellar.

For the house that Jack built was a very complete one indeed.

Well, after the Old Shoe Woman's house had been swept clean, Daddy Gander and the Sandman and the Twins got their wits together.

"I still haven't found my lost people!" said the Sandman.

"And we still haven't found the lost piece," said Daddy Gander. "And if we don't find it, the party will be spoiled. How can they and a party without refreshments? There is no other way to eat a party. And the party will go on and on all night. Something must be done."

"Let's go back," suggested Nick.

"That's a good idea," nodded the Sandman. "Maybe I can persuade the Old Shoe Woman's children to come home to bed anyway."

So off they went.

And you know what they saw when they got there. Every single soul as sound asleep as mummies.

But they saw something more, for when they rushed back to the kitchen there was the ice cream freezer and everything right in the cupboard where Mister John had put them. Not a thing had been touched.

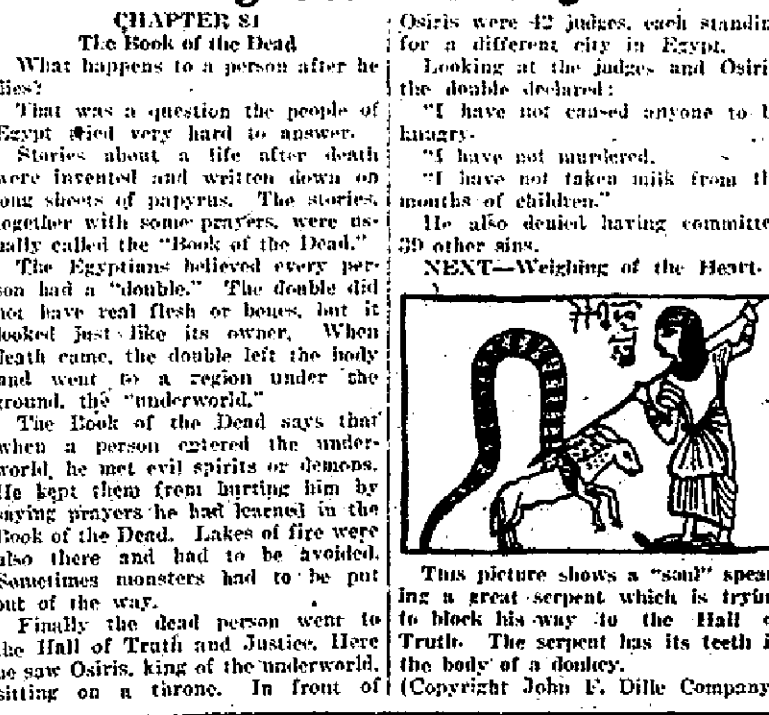

"Well, well, well! What a topsy-turvy place this is!" cried poor Daddy Gander. "A little while ago we had a lot of people and no pies. Now we have a lot of pies and no people. I hope you are satisfied, Mister Sandman."

There was a mystery! And they were soon to find it out.

DEMOCRATS ROW OVER TAX PLAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Influential members of the Democratic party are bringing pressure on Chairman Cordell Hall of the Democratic national committee, to write some changes into the bill and then to be able to claim credit for assisting in perfecting it.

One school in the Democratic party would take the question out of politics entirely, believing that it would be fatal to the party's success at the polls next fall if any attempt were made to throw sand in the breeze while the tax bill is going through Congress.

This whole question of party policy will be thrashed out by the Democratic party leaders who will be here for the meeting of the national committee next Tuesday. Many of the national committeemen are men or large business affairs and they are opposed to the bitter attack which is being made on the Mellon plan here.

Burglars in Fern, when about to enter a house, supply themselves with a sponge and a bucket of water. With the sponge they moisten the mud-covered door-knob and the thin coating is easily dissolved. They then readily enter through the thin framework, and make a hole large enough to pass through.
